LEADING FROM THE MIDDLE

Paul H. Runko (Author and Advisor to the President & COO of Roadrunner Freight)

SMILEYBALLS: The Field Book offers a fresh perspective on leadership by shining a light on the middle managers who connect vision with execution. This session explores how trust-building, recognition, and consistent leadership behaviors can improve morale, engagement, and customer outcomes. It also highlights practical approaches to developing people and identifying the often-overlooked signs of organizational health. TRMG members will leave with ideas for building a more human-centered, high-performing culture.

CHAMELEON CARRIERS: THE SHELL GAME HIDING ON OUR HIGHWAYS

Rob Carpenter (VP Compliance, Trucksafe Consulting, LLC and Journalist, Freightwaves)

Chameleon carriers are commercial trucking fleets, often foreign-owned and operated, that shed one identity for another after racking up flagrant safety violations and flouting federal regulations. In this session, investigative reporter Rob Carpenter shares his reporting on Super Ego Holding, a network of trucking and leasing companies based in Serbia and the U.S. that is currently under federal investigation and named in a class action lawsuit. Regulators and former employees call it one of the most notorious chameleon schemes operating today. Rob will unpack how these networks operate and what it means for the credit and order-to-cash professionals tasked with vetting them.
